

This is a notice regarding political signs. We have been receiving numerous complaints about owners who have placed political signs on their property. To clarify this again, while our Governing Documents restrict any signage, there is North Carolina Statute 47F-3-121 section that specifically addresses and allows political signage to be placed on private property, even within a POA, BUT only 45 days prior to and 7 days at the conclusion of any election. Since we are within the 45-day window we have no authority to ask for them to be removed. Once the 7 days (Nov. 13) have expired after the election any signs that remain must be removed.

A TALE OF TWO FOXES FROM THE NATURAL RESOURCES STEWARDSHIP COMMITTEE (NRSC) - Did you know that there are two distinct species of fox in North Carolina and they are not easily distinguishable? The gray fox is predominantly gray but has orange along its neck and flanks; the red fox may have gray fur. The gray fox is the true North American native. It has semi-retractable claws, like those of cats, and can climb trees where they like to hang out, so if you're searching for a gray fox, look upward. The gray fox has a black-tipped tail, while the tip of the red fox's tail is white. The red fox was introduced to the New World by Europeans in the mid 1800s. It prefers open fields to dense forest and is built for speed, able to run up to 30 miles per hour. Both will control the rodent population on your property as they prey on small mammals such as mice and voles. For more information about these beautiful wild creatures, visit ncwildlife.org RedFox and Gray Fox species profiles.
